

Summary of Proposal

The Kowloon Federation of Associations (“the Federation”) submitted to the Kowloon City DURF the proposal on “Revitalisation of To Kwa Wan Setting off from Cattle Depot” to facilitate revitalisation of the old areas in Kowloon City. The community renewal initiatives for Kowloon City are proposed to be kicked off at the former Ma Tau Kok Quarantine Depot (the “Cattle Depot”). The Federation proposes a wide range of public engagement activities with historical, cultural and arts themes for increasing the awareness of residents within and outside the district on the community history and culture as well as their sense of belonging. The activities include an exhibition, a workshop on traditional industries, arts and cultural performance, training course and guided tour on the culture of Kowloon City, photography/drawing/urban orientation competitions, etc. Through the activities, the Federation hopes to nurture a cultural and creative arts community as well as an audience group for the Cattle Depot, and wishes that the Cattle Depot and its peripheral areas be developed as a district-based cultural hub for promotion of community renewal.
